Looking for Volunteers

LifeZig

We are seeking individuals with Alzheimer's Disease or other dementia, and their caregivers to participate in a free study, funded by the National Institute on Aging designed to help them to entertain and relax with a new Reminiscence therapy.

Personalized video with old photographs and music (e.g. life-time events, family, and other cherished memories) will be developed for each participant in the LifeZig group.

Qualified participants will receive monetary compensation. No travel or cost is involved.

If you, or anyone you know who has dementia, would be willing to participate in a study, please contact us. A family member or caregiver who is in regular contact with individual must be available to participate in the study.
